A fish market owner , known for giving away food to hungry people, faces accusations that he shot and killed a man for urinating on his Detroit building.

Police arrested Leroy Moon, 69, on Wednesday afternoon, and are continuing to investigate the shooting about 7 p.m. Tuesday.

The wife of the 26-year-old victim told police that Moon shot her husband because he was urinating on a rear wall of the Asian Fisheries building on Gratiot near McNichols, police spokesman James Tate said.

No other information was available on the victim.

Moon fled the scene after the shooting and remained at large until Wednesday. He was arrested at his home on Camden.

His business neighbors, however, say there has to be more to the story.

"Peeing on the side of the building isn't going to make someone that mad," said David Short, owner of Gratiot Pelkey Auto Repair. "There are a lot worse things going on where we're at."

Tanya Armstrong, who works across the street at Lewis Tool Rental, said the alleged gunman is a "gentleman."

"That doesn't seem like something he would do," Armstrong said. "I just figured this had something to do with a robbery attempt."
