St. Clair Shores police are looking for a Detroit man suspected of aiding a botched robbery that ended with the kidnapping of a 3-year-old boy.

Randy Morris, 23, allegedly attempted to rob a man at gunpoint with another suspect, Germira Carter. Carter is to be tried Nov. 12 in connection with the crime.

On June 17, a St. Clair Shores resident was taking out the garbage from his home on Jefferson when Morris and Carter approached with semiautomatic pistols, said Sgt. Glenn Bowlin. The resident ran, and Morris pursued him while Carter entered the home and held the man's wife at gunpoint, Bowlin said.

Carter took the couple's car keys, cell phone and son and fled in the car, Bowlin said. Carter was later arrested after a chase. The boy was not injured.

After police identified Morris using fingerprints, Carter confirmed his involvement, police said.

Morris is 5 feet 10 and weighs 170 pounds. Bowlin said Morris uses the last name Moore as an alias and Black as a street name. Call Bowlin at 586-445-5305 or CrimeStoppers at 800-773-2587 with information.
