Trial ordered in teen hitman case

DETROIT -- A Detroit woman was ordered Tuesday to stand trial on murder and conspiracy charges for her alleged role in hiring a teenaged hitman to kill her brother- in -law, who also was her former lover.

Cathy Rider, 26, is accused of hiring a 16-year-old youth for $100 to murder Robert Brock two weeks ago.

Brock, 33, was allegedly killed by the teen during a struggle with the gunman after a van, driven by Mrs. Rider's husband, Stanley , crashed into a utility pole at Greenfield and Tyler. Mrs. Rider also was a passenger in the van during the incident.

Rider was ordered to stand trial after a hearing last week. Mrs. Rider's hearing was delayed until Tuesday because she is confined to Detroit Receiving Hospital with an undisclosed medical problem.

Judge John R. Perry refused to lower Mrs. Rider's bond of $150,000.

The youth who allegedly killed Brock is being held as a juvenile. Police plan to charge him as an adult in the case .
