No suspects yet in fatal shooting

Detroit police were still searching Monday for suspects in the fatal shooting of a Detroit Newspaper Partnership delivery employee.

Joel Winterhalter, who was a single copy sales representative, was robbed and shot to death just before 6 a.m. Sunday while on his route on Detroit's east side. Police said Winterhalter, 52, was shot in the thigh and knee with a shotgun. He was pronounced dead at St. John Hospital and Medical Center in Detroit.

Witnesses told police they saw a blue, 1970s conversion van leaving the scene at Warren and Cope.

Anyone with information is asked to call police anytime at 313-596-2260. Obituary, 5B.
