ROMULUS — A Ypsilanti man is being held on $1 million bond after being arraigned today on charges stemming from a crash on westbound I-94 when his pickup plowed into three vehicles Friday, killing another driver.

Adam Dean Perry, 31, was charged with vehicular manslaughter, operating while intoxicated causing death and second-degree driving under the influence.

Police said Perry was driving eastbound when his truck flipped over the northern guardrail and crossed all four westbound lanes before ending up in a ditch. Perry allegedly tried to flee, but he was restrained by passing motorists until police arrived when he was taken to a hospital for injuries. He was arrested upon release.

Ibrahim Kadhum Alkazaihi, 41, of Detroit was pronounced dead at the scene while the occupants of the other two vehicles involved were treated at the scene and released.
